Rudston Primary School Behaviour Policy into Practice

Rudston Primary Behaviour System

Good behaviour is the foundation for a caring, well-motivated and effective community in which the individuals have a clear idea of their self-worth, the worth of others, their roles and responsibilities and the aims which they are striving to achieve.

Each class discusses and develops a 'Class Charter'. This guides the children with explicit expectations of expected behaviour in their class. All the children sign to agree this charter and this will be displayed in the classroom. By following the class and school charters there are rewards as set out below:

1. Good Attitude , Manners &/or Exceptional Performance Rewards

2. Good Work Rewards

3. Good Behaviour Rewards

Dojo points & Stickers from Head teacher or teacher/ LSP : Exceptional behavior/ work/ action

- If a child has not received any sanctions then they will have a Dojo point at the end of the week. Rewards are awarded when Dojo milestones are reached (25, 50, 75 and 100 points).
- Children work collectively to fill a jar with marbles. When they do so they can select from a pre-agreed list of class rewards.
- Star of the Week :      Linked to Rudston Core Values
  - Respect
  - Responsibility
  - Resilience
  - Challenge
  - Enjoyment
- House points. Each pupil is in a team. The children work collectively across the school to accrue house points for their team. House points are awarded for sporting success and participation.
- Merit badges are awarded when a child reaches 100 Dojo points (EYFS to Year 4). For excellence ties are awarded when a child in Year 5 reaches 100 Dojo points and are worn for remainder of time at Rudston Primary School. Rudston Merit badges are awarded for Year 6 children achieving 200 Dojo points during years 5 and 6.
- There will be an awards evening held at the end of the academic year for Year 6 pupils who have been selected for a variety of awards/ certificates/ trophies and achievements. Parents and carers of these pupils will be invited in to an awards ceremony with staff.
